Within the Centro Findustria of the Università Bocconi and the Entrepreneurial Lab of the Università di Bergamo the Osservatorio permanente in materia di Crisi e Risanamento delle Imprese" (OCRI) has been established. OCRI is a research center that aims to contribute knowledge about company crises and the restructuring processes. OCRI aims to:

- be a point of reference for national and international research in this field;
- monitor the legislation development regarding company crisis, contributing to the development of tools to deal with change and management of crisis situations, stimulating the design of new laws;
- be a meeting point between academic studies, companies and professionals.
